Dear Reader,

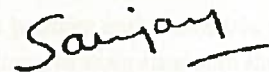

This issue of IJM Today brings you a blend of articles relating to various specialities. The spectrum of subjects have been chosen so as to update the knowledge of practising physicians and medical students.

An empty scrotum in a child is a cause of anxiety to parents. Dr. Sundar M. elaborates on the common causative mechanisms and its management. Drs. Shah and Devra summarise the various procedures for correcting Anterior Urethral Strictures.

Newer therapies in the management of Osteoarthritis have been making news lately. Dr. S. Mutha closely analyses some of the newer agents.

Our readers have been a source of constant encouragement to us. We look forward to your suggestions and criticisms.

Happy reading !
